INTEGRITY

Ruxton Rise Residence is built from materials as much as it is from belief in the values of family, health and integrity. The layout was designed with an emphasis on communal spaces; nowhere is this perhaps more apparent than in the kitchen – one of any home's most shared areas. Here, a refined palette of concrete and timber allows seamless transition to the interior courtyard garden. Studiofour summarises the pared-back philosophy behind the kitchen and home most poetically, reflecting: "simplicity enables idleness, and the time we spend idle makes for a healthier state of mind."
